RE.: Earned Income Credit Restitution

May 18, 2007

I was advised by the Department of Revenue and Taxation that you may be the only person that can solve the predicament that I am facing with my earn income credit claim. I received in the mail a notice of pendent and proposed settlement of class action that makes me eligible to claim the 1995 & 1996 earned income credit. I went to the Department of Revenue and Taxation in mid-April to check if I was eligible to an EIC claim for the years of 1997 & 1998 respectively. I was told that I wasn't eligible, but instead, they informed me that I was eligible to receive a settlement for the 1995 and 1996 claim. I was never told that I must submit a new form to receive this claim. I left the office with the impression that since I already filled my tax return for those years, I was automatically covered. Due to this fact, I missed the May 8 deadline. Presently, I am a full time student at the University of Guam with a limited source of income. The only person that I could rely upon for financial support was my common-law-wife. She lately underwent a heart by-pass surgery from which she is recuperating. Next year, I aspire to achieve (earn) a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Education. I am unemployed at this moment. The present availability of this new source of income (EIC) which I rightfully earned, will greatly relief my present situation.
